History ...

In his introduction, Madhavan Palat describes social identity as a complex of subjective social constructs that are "problematic and contested" (p. xiii). Palat labors to fit these ten chapters into three rubrics: identity of region, bureaucratic construction of peasant identities, and examination of identities of the intelligentsia and the church. Several of the essays, though, fit under the Social Identities in Revolutionary Russia - Madhavan K ...

This volume explores the crisis of identity that faced Russia during and after the Revolution. The essays discuss how a re-evaluation of national identity challenged traditional institutions and ideas, having a direct bearing upon personal identity.
